Dear Government and Corporate Liaisons,

We are seeking female role models to feature in a series of upcoming articles that will appear in our upcoming issues of USBE & Information Technology and Hispanic Engineer & Information Technology magazines.

We recommend that you look around your company and introduce us to someone who is aspiring and would be an interesting story for our thousands of readers nationwide.

To help you focus your search, one of the articles will highlight young “Rising Stars in Government & Defense,” and the other article is dedicated to “Technology All-Stars in Government & Defense.” Our goal is to tell the stories of outstanding minority women who work for the government or whose private sector tasks involve improvements within our government in the fields of math, science, information technology, or engineering. We really want to hear about the rank-and-file people who keep our government on the cutting edge.

Please take a moment to consider our request and fax or e-mail your recommendations to our editorial staff. Please include a photo print or high-resolution digital photo with your response.

Sincerely,

Guy L. Madison
Associate Publisher
